Shortcomings of the old fashioned money transaction approaches

For a very long time, we have been restricted by the norms of traditional money transaction methods followed by the market. Mostly all transactions were based on hard cash. This approach created a lot of inconvenience and finally Cashless transactions were adopted and preferred by people. Money transfer from one country to another became easier but it still involved visiting the banks, filling up papers, submitting proofs etc.

While transfer of funds from one location to another seemed like a comfort, it also comes with a variety of drawbacks. The approach adopted by the institutions demanded the user to shell out a high amount as transactions fees across borders. To make things worse, various other charges were also applied. Making the fund transfer experience even more bitter.

Moreover, the transfer of funds across border was a time consuming process and took couple of days or more for our recipient to receive the transferred funds. Certain governing laws and administrative norms were also challenging. Making the entire process of money transfer a troublesome task.

BittLend was designed with a view to change the inefficient traditional methods of money transactions. BittLend Platform aims to build a decentralized global network, based on shared benefits for its members. Effortless, Secure, cost-effective, swift, a steady means of payment and exchange are our priorities.
